

I would prefer to not receive unsolicited phone calls from telemarketers since I have 2 small children at home with me and am expecting another one. It is very difficult to pick up a phone call with a telemarketer and try to get off the phone when you are trying to take care of your children. I have also received several phone calls (prior to the Do Not Call List) from the same company after I have said no and requested that they do not call me again. This is also frustrating and takes up my time. I would like the Do Not Call program to remain in effect as it stands right now since my life has been made a little easier without the interruptions of telemarketers. Thanks for listening.
